

Chapter 13

Social Studies

- 1) The Tlinglit tribe carved wooden canoes, lived in small wooden huts during the summer, and used totem poles and blankets to tell stories.
- 2) The Tlinglit tribe used natural resources to build their homes, fished for salmon, and hunted for deer and seals.
- 3) The Tlinglit would celebrate important family events at a potlatch.
- 4) Today's potlatch gifts often include money and household goods.
- 5) The Tlinglit live on the same land that their ancestors lived on.
- 6) People explored the West to find riches.
- 7) San Francisco grew into a large city because of the 1849 Gold Rush.
- 8) A boom town would become a ghost town once the area was mined.
- 9) The "Wild West" got its name because colorful and often violent characters in boom towns and cow towns created a lasting legend.
- 10) The United States purchased Alaska for about 2 cents an acre.
- 11) The western territories became states between 1850 and 1959.
- 12) Alaska and Hawaii joined the Union in 1959.
- 13) The sunny, pleasant climate make Los Angeles a popular place to live.
- 14) Computer software is an important industry in Seattle.
- 15) In Salt Lake City, tourists enjoy winter sports such as skiing.
- 16) Cars, clothing, and electronic equipment are imported to the USA from Pacific Rim countries.
- 17) The USA imports many cars from Japan.